MG Awareness Dinner @ Le Mont

Board members, staff and long-time supporters of MGA gathered at beautiful LeMont on June 26th for fine food and fellowship celebrating the important work of the Myasthenia Gravis Association of Western PA. The event capped off MGA's National MG Awareness month activities during June. Executive Director Maree Gallagher spoke about the many changes that the organization has experienced since its founding in 1955, and the expectation of more changes in the future. She congratulated those present for their role in helping MGA to be able to continue its services to people with Myasthenia Gravis and their families. Special guest, radio and television personality Ellis Cannon, spoke about the value of volunteering one's time for a cause, and how it has affected his own life, helping him to know what is really important. All in attendance enjoyed the evening, and many expressed hope that it will become an annual event.

Pooch Parade

Join the 5th Annual Pooch Parade
October 27th at South Park

Help support MGA and form a team to walk in memory or in honor of a loved one with MG!
MGA provides patient-centered, coordinated care for MG patients and their families, including expert diagnosis and medical care in our treatment center’s weekly clinic; a wealth of up-to-date information and educational resources; emotional support and advocacy; a monthly support group; and a virtual support group on Facebook. The MGA website is one of the most comprehensive and informative sites available on MG, and receives more than 3,000 hits per month, attracting phone and email inquiries from all over the United States.

We are pleased to report that we served a record number of patients this past year. A total of 475 patients received treatment through MGA, a 37% increase over the previous year! In addition, MGA provided 13,066 units of service in advocacy, outreach and other supportive services, a 23% increase. We are justifiably proud of the amazing level of care coordination that MGA’s small team of four people is able to provide, and we look forward to future growth as we continue our affiliation with AGH and the Allegheny Health Network in the ensuing fiscal year.

Despite this growth, this year MGA experienced a significant cut in our budget. We are currently in the process of trying to find other sources of support to sustain present levels of services. Never has YOUR support been more crucial! If you or a loved one has ever been helped by MGA, we hope that you will show your appreciation by giving generously to our annual appeal. MGA is successful because of you. Please help us continue this legacy of service begun 58 years ago.

Coordination of Your Medical Care is PRIMARY

by Alan E. Weidman L.P.N.,
Patient Care Coordinator

As we begin the last quarter of the year, it’s a good time to reflect on how important a primary care physician is to your overall health.

First off, do you have a primary care physician or PCP? Do you see him/her on a regular or semi-regular basis? Are all medical test results forwarded to his/her attention? Your other medical specialists should be faxing or communicating any and all results with your primary care physician. Informing your primary care doctor of any tests and lab work ordered insures you will not have to repeat that which has already been done.

Secondly, if you use more than one pharmacy it is very important that your primary care physician is aware of all your medications, including any over-the-counter ones such as vitamins or supplements. This will help insure that your medications are compatible and you will not incur any adverse reactions from the medications you are presently taking. This literally could save your life.

Thirdly, any treatments, such as physical therapy, chiropractic, or other outside treatments that another doctor ordered, should always be shared with your primary care physician for his/her approval and guidance.

You should never assume that your primary doctor knows everything that is going on with you. Many times things are forgotten or miscommunicated. You are your own best advocate. No medical professional will ever be upset that you updated them about your healthcare. When you are diagnosed with a chronic illness, communication between doctor and patient is crucial. Your family will appreciate that you are taking charge of your health in this way, and your doctor will too.

All of us at MGA want to keep you as healthy as possible. If we can ever be of assistance to you, please call us at 412-566-1545.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS IN THE HOME

by Michelle Dulashaw, Medical & Social Support Specialist

Most accidents happen in the home, even for people that do not have Myasthenia Gravis. The various symptoms that affect someone with MG including, vision problems, difficulty walking, fatigue or overall weakness associated with MG, can increase the risk of injury and have bearing on the overall safety of your home. There are steps you can take to help keep home safe, especially if you live on your own.

BEHAVIORAL STEPS:

1. Take your time and get your balance!! When you are getting out of bed or a chair, you can be a little off balance. It is important to make sure you maintain sufficient support, especially if you are moving around at a time when you are not at optimum strength.

2. Never rush to the phone or door. If you’re expecting a call, keep the phone nearby. Consider leaving a note on the door asking visitors to give you time to answer your door.

3. When picking something up off the floor/ground, try to bend with your knees rather than leaning. If you have an unsteady gait, it is best if you consult your physician about using a walker or cane. Another option is a “reacher” device that can help you pick things up or get something from a high place.

4. Compile a list of emergency phone numbers. Keep them near your telephone, attached to the refrigerator, or any other place that is noticeable and easily accessible.

5. Have an emergency exit plan and always keep your fire extinguisher in working order. Learn how to use it in an emergency.

6. Keep a flashlight and fresh batteries in an easily accessible place.

7. Wear a medical alert bracelet or necklace stating you have MG and any other health conditions.

8. Use caution while in the bathroom. Extremely hot water during a shower or bath may cause weakness. If you feel weak and you need to bathe, have someone assist you if you need assistance getting out of the tub. It may also help to have a hand held shower head and set your water heater to 120 degrees Fahrenheit to help avoid burns.

9. If you live alone, it is important to have someone check-in on you daily either by a short visit or by phone.

10. When cooking, avoid wearing loose clothing and keep all towels and other flammable items away from burners.

HOUSEKEEPING:

1. Keep walkways and stairs clear. Clean up spills as soon as possible.

2. Do your home cleaning and chores when you are at your strongest. If your home tends to be on the warmer side and you don’t have an air-conditioning unit, make sure you do any needed chores early in the morning when your home is still cool. Take frequent breaks and drink plenty of fluids.

ELIMINATING POTENTIAL HAZARDS:

1. When using area rugs, make sure they are secured in place with tape or have a non-slip backing.

2. Make sure your furniture is sturdy enough to help support you while trying to sit down or stand up. Avoid furniture with wheels that can move out from under you easily.

3. Repair holes on surfaces you walk on as well as making sure they are even, including steps, floors, and sidewalks.

4. Make bathing safer by using slip-resistant bath mats or strips. Also, install grab bars in your bath or shower. A hand held shower head or a shower chair can also make bathing less of a chore.

5. Have proper lighting in every room and entrance. Make sure there is access to light switches near entryways to avoid walking through dark areas. Nightlights are also a great addition to have if you need to get up during the night to use the restroom or get a snack.

6. Keep a lamp and phone near your bedside.

7. Keep smoke alarms and carbon-dioxide alarms in working order. Test them at least once a month, and replace batteries when the clock changes in the spring and fall.
WHAT DO I DO AT MGA... THE SHORT ANSWER IS:

I don’t do windows!

My name is Donna Kalisek and I am the Administrative Coordinator at MGA in Western PA, but many of you may know me better as the receptionist during MGA’s Tuesday morning treatment center here in Pittsburgh. The coffee and homemade cookies available at treatment center are also something I do to bring a smile to those who visit for their appointments.

Recently several clients have asked me “What do you do in the office when treatment center is over?”

It’s important to realize that the Myasthenia Gravis Association is NOT JUST the treatment center on Tuesday mornings. Our weekly treatment center is an extension of the neurologists’ office, staffed with knowledgeable personnel that deal specifically with the treatment of myasthenia gravis and we serve nearly 500 patients annually.

MGA is a non-profit charitable organization staffed Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 4:00 pm that serves people with MG from 26 counties in Pennsylvania. We also handle calls and emails from people from all over the country. MGA has a Board of Directors that oversees everything that we do. We are a patient-centered organization that provides expert and unmatched treatment and support to anyone with a diagnosis of myasthenia gravis, including family members, friends, & coworkers. And that service and support doesn’t end when treatment center is over. We also:

• authorize and order prescription refills
• schedule and analyze needed testing, including authorizations
• supply information and referrals to other physicians as necessary
• visit MG patients who are in the hospital
• advocate with insurance companies
• handle referrals and inquiries from other doctors
• plan support groups, and other patient outings
• provide training opportunities for residents
• keep our patient information packets updated
• manage our website (www.mgawpa.org) and facebook
• conduct public awareness campaigns
• hold fundraisers and educational seminars
• write and mail out newsletters

As Administrative Coordinator (beyond receptionist and cookie baker) I also:

• assist with bookkeeping
• prepare correspondence
• generate mailings
• update our mailing list
• order office supplies
• work on fundraisers
• answer phones

I have been a part of MGA for over 45 years, first as a patient myself, then getting involved with fundraisers, doing minor clerical duties, and talking to other people about my experiences. For 20 of those years I’ve been a member of the staff. Because of my history with myasthenia gravis, I can talk to patients and help them understand and cope with this illness. I’ve dedicated my life to MGA because of the commitment I feel EVERY DAY that I’m in the office, not just on treatment center day. There is a necessity for this organization because myasthenia gravis is such an unknown and unpredictable disease. I’m here to help others as I was helped so many years ago through this organization and the people that are committed to its mission.

So when you come in for your appointment, remember that there’s a lot more to MGA than just the Treatment Center. You can call me any Tuesday, Thursday or Friday between 8:00 am and 2:30 pm (412-566-1545). But remember, I don’t do windows!
